

Dear readers,

On behalf of the magazine management and editorial board, I wish you a lot of professional and personal success. I am very happy that our cooperation continues and we shall put all our efforts into a good quality communication between our reader and the researchers in the scientific area of kinesiology, through the Journal „Sport Scientific and Practical Aspects“. Interests of the researchers vary in the articles we have published in this edition, which leads us to a conclusion that a multidisciplinary approach to research in the area of kinesiology has become a standard.

A sport training is a process which should be guided by scientific findings of all disciplines which relate to a complex operation of human beings, for which there are a specific sequence and a number of factors relevant for success.

The variety the researchers' interests demonstrates that the scientific area of kinesiology is challenging for researchers and that the development path of the creativity in sports will be defined on the basis of the results produced by the researchers, and that the synergy of scientific theory and practical life is a precondition for a successful future of kinesiology as a relatively new and not sufficiently affirmed scientific branch.

Finally, we can all be proud of the fact the our Journal „Sport Scientific and Practical Aspects“ is becoming interesting for researchers in the scientific area of kinesiology from all over the world, and we hope that, in the future, it will become recognizable to a wider professional and scientific audience as an idea which can be successfully realized.

Yours sincerely,

Editor in Chief
